"Russia has enjoyed stability and progress under the present emperor," "He has given it what it most needed, stability, after it had been rent by a liberal policy, wholly unsuited to Russia. The cry for a constitution had been raised. The former emperor surrendered much to the libsentiment, only to be compelled to take back part when he found he had yielded too much. But the present emperor neither yielded nor took back. He tried no new and liberal policies. He affirmed that Russia was to be the same Russia as before. Thus he has restored stability and peace within and without. He is guided only by his touching devotion for the Russian people, which has inspired all his actions and has overcome discontent." The minister was asked if Nihiliem

"To a large extent it has," said he, "To a large extent it has," said he,

This led to a question as to the receit scandals circulated as to the trouble with the imperial household, which it was alleged might lead to the displacement of the grand duke.

The imperial family has a beautiful domestic life," said he. "The children are still the babies the pets of their father, and there is the sincerest devotion among them. These cruel slanders are quickly recognized as inventions by those who know not of the sweet home life of the imperial family. It is asserted that the Grand Puke Nicholas is an enemy of America. Must Come Soon.

Berlin, Oct. 20.-A dispatch from St. Petersburg, published by the National Zettung, this afternoon, says, according to special information from a medical authority now at Lividia, the ezar, during the last forty-eight hours, has been seized with a series of convulsive attacks accompanied several hours by temporary unconsciousness. It is add-ed his death cannot be long delayed.

Prayers For His Recovery.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.-Advices this morning say prayers are being offered up today throughout the Russian empire for the recovery of the czar, and that great impatience is manifested at the scantiness of official news in regard to the condition of his majesty. Early this morning a dispatch from St. Petersburg announces that the latest re-this morning a dispatch from St. Petersburg announces that the latest reports received there from Lividia, state that altinough the czar is still allive, he was rapidly weakening.

A striking fact in connection with the czar's illness is the difference of opinion regarding the exact nature of the malady from which he is suffering. The Figaro, for instance, today declares the symptoms disagree with the usual symptoms of kidney diseases. The Figaro adds that one of the czarina's sisters, a fortinight ago, received official communication stating that the crar is suffering from a tumor below the left kidney, respecting which the doutors disagreed. Professor Zacharin was convinced that it was cancerous and impossible to operate upon. This was his ground for recently innforming the crar he could not possibly live, as the disease is incurable.

Professor Leyden, however, was more optimic if: and after a careful study of size symptoms of the czar's trouble, expressed the belief that a true tumor existed, but he added it was of a henigm nature and curable.

The Figare makes the startling statement that the exar has been badly nursed and the arrangements for his care were of a quite primitive nature.

The statement is somewhat unkind, as it is known that the crar's most as-siduous nurse has been the czarina, who, according to the rumor, has broken down under the strain of at-tending continually upon her dying husband.

The Tempe says torre is not a corner of France where prayers have not been offered up for the recovery of the czar. The czar, since the fetes at Toulon, following the arrival there of the Russian squadron under Admiral Avelian, has everywhere in the French republic been considered as a life ally of France.

Canrina is III.

St. Petersburg, Oct. 20.-It is stated on the best authority that the czarin on the best sufficiently that the czarina is very ill and that her son, Grand Duke George, is dying. It is also stated that the czar, before his illness entered upon the final stages, had a soleme interview with the czarewliz, in which be indicated the policy he desired him to pursue, and also incisted upon his marriage to Princess Alix, who was summoned to Lividia to receive the dying blessing of the The theatres will be closed six nonths after the death of the czar.

FEELING OF RELIEF. London, Oct. 20.-When the contents of the bulletin, issued at St. Petersof the bulletin, issued at St. Peters-burg last night, became generally known today, there was a feeling of relief in knowing that the czar still lives. The official silence of the pre-vious twenty-four hours created in-tense anxiety.

President Young Discourses Upon the New Baseball Association. Washington, Oct. 20,-President Nick Young, of the National league, has this to say of the new baseball association.
"The impression prevails, after looking over the field, that they are proceeding upon the dea that the league rather than become involved in another struggle similar to that with the rather than become involved in another struggle similar to that with the brotherhood, will go down into its pockets and buy out the rival organization. They will be sadly disappointed if they are entertaining such ideas. The league does not intend to enter into a contest of dollars for the service of popular players in the league. If they are disposed to place their loyality to the parent organization on the suction block they are at liberty to do so. If they deliberately violate the terms of the national agreement and desert the league they must undersand they deliberately place themselves upon the black list, so far as the league is concerned, for all time to come.

"New players are being developed every year and there is no longer a ball players trust to indicate the policy of the league."

The fall meeting of the league will be called for Novemoer 14 and will be held in New York. The report of the secretary will be submitted and the showing promises to be satisfactory from a financial standpoint in spite of the hard times.

afterwards it was only a question of how many lengths she was to lead. Without a skip or false motion she won the first heat easily.

In the second heat, the great stallion again met defeat. A slight soreness brought on a catastrophe. A misstep in an attempt to save the sore foot tore off the quarter boot and inflicted a cut nearly as large as a half dollar. Afer that Directum's fate in this race was sealed and there was nothing to be done but to withdraw him from the vontest.

It was 3 o'clock when Hickok brought Directum to the track. The stallion shone like ebony, but one acquainted with the horse could see that he lacked some of his usual fire. It was a pretty send off, but in the long start the queen got up the stretch, sent her ahead down to the quarter, and at the turn she had pushed to the front with the stallion two lengths behind.

When they turned into the stretch Alix seemed to be taking her pace easily, but Directum could get no nearer and McDowell pulled her under the wire in 2:09. Alix made the quarter in 32 half, 1:04%; three-quarters in 1:37 and the mile in 2:09. Hikko looked troubled as he followed Directum to the stall. He said the stallion seemed sore in the first warming up and in the heat it was impossible to keep him down to the fast work on account of his desire to pace. His feet were found to be sore, but he was booted and came out for the second heat, and which provd to be the last for him. The second scering started the two horses on even terms, but they went together but a short distance, for again as they rounded the lower turn Alix had a clear two lengths and was pulling steadily away. Alix came under the wire in a jog with Directum pounding down still four lengths behind and where the time board showed a mark of 2:13%, but the feeling was that something was wrong with the black horse. It was found that at the lower turn he over-reached and cut his foot after losing a boot and his sore foot had put him out of the race.
